NEWS FROM COUNCIL BLUFFS

Albert Hall Held Up and Robbed Sunday Night.

OVERLOOKED TEN IN THEIR HURRY

Prisoner Plays 'Possum on Officer Escalade and Gets Away—Firemen Let Two More Get Away When the Officer Went Back for the Supposed Dead Man.

Albert Hall, a barber employed in Schickel's shop, who lives at the corner of Sixth street and Tenth avenue, was going home from church with a lady Sunday night about 10 o'clock, when he was met by three men, one of whom shoved a revolver under his nose while the other two helped themselves to his valuables. He took place at the corner of Eighth street and Fifth avenue. The thieves worked so hastily that they neglected to take a $10 bill which Hall had in one of his vest pockets, but they made away with his gold watch and chain, which he values at $25. Hall reported the case to the police.

About 4 o'clock yesterday morning Officer Escalade was mounting along Fifth avenue near Twenty-first street when he saw three men of a suspicious cast of countenance answering the description of the three who had committed the robbery. He placed all three under arrest and started with them in the direction of the engine house, which was only a short distance away. While on the way one of the trio suddenly started and ran. Escalade pulled out his revolver and sent four bullets whizzing through the air in the direction of the fugitive. The fellow fell, and Escalade took his other two captives to the engine house and left them with the firemen while he went to look for the man he supposed he had killed.

He had not been long to get straight as he might, however, for the corpse proved to have had life enough left in him to get away, and not a trace of him could be found anywhere. Escalade, however, was only a few feet from the man when he was coming along with the patrol wagon at the right time. At the police station he gave his name as James Kelly, and will be given a chance to explain himself this morning in police court.

OUT OF WORK ANYHOW.

C. H. Warren, President of the Local A. R. U., Laid Off by the Northwestern.

C. H. Warren, president of the local branch of the A. R. U., was notified Sunday night that he had been laid off from his position in the Chicago & Northwestern freight office in accordance with orders from Superintendent Hollenbeck of the Iowa lines. The reason assigned was that the company had decided to curtail expenses in view of the present financial condition.

Several facts, however, have led the members of the A. R. U. to believe that that was a mere excuse, intended to conceal the real reason for the discharge. Mr. Warren was one of the oldest employees of the Northwestern in this city, having been employed in the freight department for more than twenty years. As he is prominent before the public in connection with the tie-up of the Rock Island railway, the fact that he should be laid off yesterday is one thing that makes his fellow workmen feel as though it was his connection with the order more than a desire for retirement that led to his discharge.

Warren leaves this morning for Boone for the purpose of asking for an investigation at the hands of Superintendent Hollenbeck.

No discount on water bills after Tuesday, the 10th. Pay now and save 5 per cent. Open Tuesday evening.

Police Court Notes.

The Baker larceny case, which was continued from Saturday, was first on the docket. Constable Baker, who, in company with Detectives Murphy and Weir, made a search of the defendant's house and found the bottle of morphine supposed to have been taken from Davis' drug store, gave his testimony as to finding the bottle rolled up among some old clothes in a trunk. He said that he also found thirteen bottles of a smaller size, all empty, which had contained the drug. Joseph Spaulding, a clerk in the drug store, said that while he was busy in the front of the store on the evening of June 29 Ed Davis entered the place, and after making some small purchases went into the rear part of the store, and that he was shortly after this that the bottle in question was missed. The bottle was produced, and it was identified as the missing one. Spaulding could not identify it as Mr. Davis' property. The case will come up again this morning.

C. L. Gillette keeps chickens, and among his brood was a Brahma chicken which he valued at $50. Mr. Gillette went home to dinner Saturday noon and discovered his pet fowl lying near the Lutz and accused Otto Lutz, who he claims has made several threats of the kind, of being a party to the murder, swearing out an information against him, upon which he was arrested by the marshal. The prosecution could prove nothing, so Judge McGee ordered the case dismissed.

Will Have a Wheel Meet.

The Gonymside Wheel club held its regular monthly meeting last evening and decided to have a bicycle meet in this city during the last week of the present month.

The exact date has not yet been set, but the exact date of the country to be present on their way back east from the Denver meeting will be held in Union Driving park, whose track is considered the finest west of the Mississippi, and will last two days, providing enough prizes can be secured from the merchants of Council Bluffs and Omaha to justify it.

See of five was appointed, consisting of H. E. Grimm, E. C. Parsons, J. M. Fenlon, Ed Brown and S. L. Elyre. It has general charge of the arrangements, and to have power to appoint as many sub-committees as may be necessary.

The laundries use Domestic soap.

Looking for Sellsick.

Martin Oberfelder, an Omaha representative of the Chicago firm of O. B. Tennis & Co., was in the city yesterday looking for S. J. Sellsick of Fremont, who he thought had passed last week from Chicago sailing.

BRITANNIA KEEPS WINNING

Her Right to Rule in the Firth of Clyde is Now Beyond Dispute.

PRINCE OF WALES' YACHT IS A GOOD ONE

She Defeats the American Vigilant for the Third Time and Did It Very Gracefully—It Was a Warm Race.

HUNTERS QUAY (Firth of Clyde), July 9.—The Vigilant, in this day's racing of the Royal Clyde Yacht club regatta, spread a new mainsail to the breeze, was slightly altered in trim, and at the start crossed the line two seconds ahead of the Britannia and secured the weather gauge. At the Cloch lighthouse the Vigilant was two lengths ahead and gaining upon the Britannia. The wind was light from the south.

Lord Dunraven and Admiral Montagu witnessed today's contest, which was confined to the Britannia and the Vigilant in the chief event, although seventy other yachts were entered in the minor events.

The starting gun was fired at 10.30 a. m. The Vigilant was first, however, did not get a fair start, but was lowered before she had gone far. Down channel, on the other hand, the Britannia and the Vigilant were about equal and the sailing, though slow compared with that of Saturday, was quite fair. The Vigilant and the Britannia were both at the Cloch shortly after the start.

From under Weymouth castle the yachts Britannia and the Vigilant were taken, the Britannia, if anything, having the better weatherly grip, while the Vigilant was allowed to go free.

Near Skermerrie, the first mark, the two yachts had been for some time traveling in close company. The Vigilant always had the weather gauge, but as she lost the breeze first, the Britannia took the lead.

At Inzean, at 12.35 p. m. near Asog, the Vigilant was becalmed and the Britannia took the lead. Rounding the Asog mark the Britannia was in the lead, Britannia, 1 hour, 13 minutes, 31 seconds; Vigilant, 1 hour, 17 minutes, 11 seconds.

At Clough Point, the Britannia was leading the Vigilant by three minutes and five seconds. Off Gourcock the Vigilant carried the main air and reached clean past the Britannia.

Passing Gourcock the Vigilant led by a length. The winds were light and variable and the race was a close one.

Best seamanship of the yachtsmen, at the time at the Kilcragan mark was: Britannia, 4:29:15; Vigilant, 4:45:10. The yachtsmen were wearing drift hoods. The Britannia was in the lead at 5:34:45. The Vigilant came in at 5:44:15. With time allowance the Britannia won by eleven minutes.
